Test Case	Form Validation
Expected Result:	If any of the form elements does not meet the required format, an error will be displayed
Actual result:	Yes.

The screenshot shows a web page for creating a new account. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the text "Join → Share → Connect!" and a "SIGN UP NOW!" button. Below this is a "Create an Account" section with a sub-instruction: "Registering for this site is easy, just fill in the fields below and we'll get a new account set up for you in no time." The main form is titled "Account Details". It contains four input fields: "Username" (with value "abhi"), "Email Address" (with value "sdfv"), "Choose a Password" (with value "•••"), and "Confirm Password" (with value "•••"). A green validation message "This username is available" appears above the "Username" field. Three red validation messages appear below the other fields: "Invalid email address" for the email, "Minimum 6 characters allowed" for the password, and "Fields do not match" for the confirmation. To the right of the form, there is a "MEMBER SIGN IN" section with fields for "Username" and "Password", and links for "Sign in" and "Forgot Password?". Below this is a "NEW MEMBERS" section featuring several small profile pictures. Yellow arrows point from the validation messages to the text "JQuery + AJAX", "JQuery", "Validation", and "Validation" respectively, indicating the technologies used for each type of validation.
